

2007 REX Award-winning entry, Bob & Jill Colella's Deck and Pergola.

JOHN ERWIN has been a remodeling industry leader for over 14 years, including past service as president of the Olympia Master Builder's Association, and recognition as the 2001 Builder of the Year. John's lengthy experience and expertise as a full-service design/build contractor ensure that his firm delivers excellence.

John Erwin Remodeling, Inc. accepts a broad variety of projects, including residential and commercial, interior and exterior. The company has been awarded four "Remodeler of the Year" awards, as well as many Excellence in Remodeling honors from the Olympia Master Builders. So far this year, John Erwin Remodeling, Inc. has been awarded Excellence in Remodeling awards from the Olympia Master Builder's Association and the Building Industry Association of Washington for Best Residential Exterior Remodel under $25,000.

When an owner chooses to develop their project with John Erwin Remodeling, they are offered a chance to see the finished project before it has begun. Because John uses CAD software during the design process, clients have a realistic, 3D preview of their design features. Clients are also requested to choose their building materials during the development phase; these may also be integrated into the design preview and allow the design features to blend together effortlessly into the home.

John Erwin Remodeling, Inc. has expanded to include two Certified Graduate Remodelors, a feature that helps to place them above the rest. Additionally, John Erwin Remodeling has a full-time office staff and utilizes a lead-man system; clients have clear, personal communication with the crew and may track each phase of their project.

John says that the secret to his firm's achievement was passed onto him by his mom at a young age. "I surround myself with true professionals; not only my own employees, but also my sub-contractors and suppliers. Their knowledge and experience can't help but contribute to my and our success." John Erwin is so confident in his team, and their work, that he offers a two-year warranty on their completed projects.
